"Under the present system of this society, responsibility for its actions or the proper administration cannot be brought home to the board of direct-

Mr. Hadley also notes that the Equitable has made some loans on real estate that are the reverse of conservative, and that Frank Jordan, son of the former comptroller, Thomas D. Jordan, still has a monopoly of placing fire insurance on properties on which the Equitable makes mortgage loans. This latter practice came in for severe condemnation during the insurance investigation.

The report says: "It was noted that in many cases by using the society's appraised value of property as a basis for mortgages, the amounts of the loans were in excess of the legal limi-

Day Answers Charges.

Replying to the charges made in the Hadley report, President William A. Day, of the Equitable, authorized a statement that the charges were based on an examination made of the society as far back as 1911, and that the criticism was based chiefly on the belief that the reports of committees were not sufficiently extended. The suggestion that reports be more explicit and extensive was adopted according to Mr. Day, so far as possible.

Real Estate Dealer Bankrupt.
Huston L. Waller yesterday filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the United States District Court. Liabilities are placed at $8,469.12 and assets at $5,600. Mr. Waller is a real estate operator, with coffices in the Mutual Building.

New York, October 36.—Charges that the board of directors of the Equitable Life Assurance, Seciety does not direct the affairs of that 1486,000,000 institution are mac's by the State Insurance Department.

It also be asserted that the records of the board.

The charges are counts and that a committee of paid officials of the society has to a large extent usurped the functions of the board.

The charges are contained in a report of an examination of the financial condition of the society made by Calef Examiner Nelson B. Hadley. The report has just been made public by the State Insurance Department.

"We have examined the records of the board of directors and that the seconds give very missive accounts of the board," writes Mr. Halley, "and found that these records give very missive accounts of the society first of the board of the which could not be ascertained from the records. It can be assertained from the records. I

"The idea of marriage and at marriage implies does not revolt me. I regard it as sacred. With me it was a desire to consecrate myself to God that led me into proposing the pact to the man to whom I was affianced. If we had not made this agreement, I would be living my married life as the average woman is living hers. Nor would I have refused to marry Mr. Cunningham if he had declined to enter into the agreement to remain cellbate."

Big Crowd at Fair.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Amherst, Va., October 30.—Bright skies again helped to swell the crowd attending the Amherst Fair to-day. The number present was considerably larger than on yesterday. This was "Farmers' Day," and the exercises were largely along agricultural lines. Thomas S. Martin, who was expected to speak, was unavoidably kept away, but other speakers were present and delivered addresses. The horse show was held to-day, at which time many improved horses of every class were shown. The riding and driving by the women and girls was especially good.

COURSE IS HEAVY CLOSE FINISHES

Latonia, Ky., October 20.—Cold weather made the track at the Latonia course to-day very heavy and holding, but the crowd, which was of a fair size, managed to do well in their argument with the iron men by landing on three of the first choices. Counterpart, the choice in the fourth event, won in nice style. Vreeland, a favorite, secured a very lucky victory in the third race. Yorkville went into the lead, but as the field swing into the stretch he ran out, carrying Flint with him. Vreeland came fast, and held Riffe Brigade safe. Flint was a fast-going third.
